WILHELMINE IN THE LIGHT OF THE PAST

EVERYTHING REMAINS DIFFERENT

In the middle of the boom corridor Berlin Southeast, in Oberschöne-weide, stands Wilhelmine. One of the most important industrial areas in Europe once stretched from Berlin Ostkreuz to Schöneweide. Even today there is impressive evidence of the industrial architecture of the turn of the century. Among them the “Accumulatoren Fabrik Aktiengesell-schaft” (AFA), which was founded in 1912 in Wilhelminen-hofstrasse 66–68 as a place for the Workers’ Welfare Association.

In 1948, the building was converted into the original House of Culture. From the beginning, the 500 m² hall on the 2nd floor was the pulsating heart of the building.
“The salons of the GDR,” as many contemporary witnesses called the culture houses at the time, were places full of life. This energy of life can still be felt here today and is being rekindled.

CURTAINS UP FOR WILHELMINE

INNOVATION WITH A PAST

The future community hotspot on Wilhelminenhofstrasse offers around 7,500 m² total rental space, in the direct neighbourhood of the Berlin University of Applied Sciences, the Behrens-Ufer and the Spree.

The walls of the listed building ensemble still radiate the magical energy of a long social life as a former cultural centre. It is precisely this significance as a place for people that the Wilhelmine is once again reviving today. The three historic existing buildings are being carefully restored and extended by a new building.

The architects at BASD take up the splendour of the past and harmoniously extends it into a contemporary, characterful ensemble. This gives the Wilhelmine new and versatile development opportunities as a location for collaboration, innovation and creativity.

FACTS

IN THE LIMELIGHT AGAIN

ALL LIGHTS ON WILHELMINE

Wilhelmine consists of the historic Cultural House (A) with a 500 m² hall featuring a 6 m high ceiling. This special space is ideal for events such as conferences, weddings, exhibitions, and other gatherings. The Culture House also offers a lively arcade on the ground floor with a market hall-like character for various concepts like restaurants, offices or small shops

On the street side, the Cultural House merges into the historic Guest House (B), which is connected to the Side Wing (D) by a new extension at the rear of the ensemble. Buildings B, C, and D have already been let and will offer a hotel with 110 individual guest rooms. From the opposite side of the street, the future south-facing restaurant terrace draws the attention. With its convenient location between the ground floor and the event area, visitors will be able to reach this location from anywhere and enjoy the culinary offerings.

NEW LIGHT, NEW SPACE

WELCOME WORK-LIFE-BALANCE

Wilhelmine is slightly set back from the street. This creates unique locations for culinary offerings and get-togethers – away from the hustle and bustle of the city. A portico opens up the entrance and provides a protected space for future events.

In addition, the Culture House will be given new light and the large, historic windows will be reopened. This will give the building a variety of contemporary possibilities of uses. The main beneficiary is the centerpiece, the 500 m² hall, which, thanks to the daylight, will come back to life. Also the entire roof truss will be equipped with window surfaces at the back. A secluded atrium with an accessible garden will be created in the rear area – an oasis of calm in the midst of the turbulent city life.

A roof terrace and numerous attic exits provide inspiring outlooks. Wilhelmine will soon offer plenty of light and space for a modern work-life balance.

OBERSCHÖNE-WEIDE

Nestled between Ostkreuz, Rummelsburg and Adlershof, "OSW – Oh So Wonderful" Oberschöne weide is located directly in the center of the new boom axis to the BER. The location offers numerous opportunities for a new generation of founders and companies with an innovative, environmentally conscious attitude and economic objectives. OSW is once again home to many new ideas.

HTW | UNIVERSITY OF APPLIED SCIENCES

HTW Berlin is a renowned University of Applied Sciences in Germany with more than 14,000 students and over 500 employees, offering a wide range of courses in the fields of technology, computer science, business, law, culture and design.
